

Free baggage allowance on all routes with Weight Concept

On all flight routes within Germany and European as well as between Europe including Germany, GUS, Middle East, Africa and Asia, your free baggage allowance is determined according to the so-called 'Weight Concept'. With this concept the free baggage allowance is defined by total weight of your baggage, rather than by the number of bags.

The allowances are:

1. First Class: 40 kg (88lb) - plus 1 ski bag and plus 1 golf bag on flights operated by Lufthansa and Swiss International Airlines
2. Business Class: 30 kg (66lb) - plus 1 ski bag on flights operated by Lufthansa and Swiss International Airlines
3. Economy Class: 20 kg (44lb) - plus 1 ski bag on flights operated by Lufthansa and Swiss International Airlines

These free baggage allowances apply on flights operated by Lufthansa. Please note that on flights with other airlines different baggage regulations and charges may apply. In the case of code-share flights, the baggage regulations of the operating airline apply on those sections of the flight not operated by Lufthansa.

Please note that the following changed conditions and charges apply for tickets issued from 01.01.2010:

We have changed the Economy Class baggage allowances for flights operated by Lufthansa between Europe and the USA, Canada and Mexico. Lufthansa Status Customers (FTL, SEN, HON and Star Gold Card Members) and other classes/routes are not affected by these changes.
